Haemorrhoidal Suppositories

Piloject

Composition:
Each suppository contains:

Hydrocortisone Acetate B.P.	0.25 % w/w
Lidocaine B.P.	3.00 % w/w
Zinc Oxide B.P.	5.00 % w/w
Allantoin B.P.	0.50 % w/w
Suppository base	q.s.

Indications:
Pain and bleeding associated with anal fissures and haemorrhoids (piles).

Contraindications:
Corticosteroids should not be used in the presence of infections unless effective chemotherapy is also employed. Hypersensitivity to any component of the preparation.

Directions:

1. Not be taken by mouth. For rectal administration only.
2. Moisten suppository with water before inserting.

Side Effects:
As with all corticosteroids, if Piloject preparation is used for prolonged periods, the consequence of systemic absorption should be considered, especially in children. Prolonged and intensive treatment with active corticosteroid preparations may cause local atrophic changes in skin.

Precautions:
Topical administration of corticosteroids to pregnant animals can cause abnormalities of foetal development.

Dosage: As directed by the Physician.
Initially 2 suppositories may be required daily depending on the severity of the problem. One at bed time and one in morning after motion. When the inflammation is subsiding one suppository a day is sufficient in most cases. However it is always better to consult your Doctor.

NOTE:
This suppository does not cause any laxative effect. Laxative suppositories are also very useful in the management of haemorrhoids.

Storage:
Do not store above 30°C. Keep in dry place. Protect from light.

Keep out of reach of children.

Presentation:
2 Blisters x 5 Suppositories in a box.
